Conspiracy: Why Shouldn't General Talk?

The unusual thing about Sunday was that at 8 p.m. we still had daylight which is extraordinary this early in the Spring. Of course everyone knew the reason. The lawmakers simply ordered the nation's clocks set up one hour, inaugurating Daylight Saving Time. At this rate we'll have daylight until 9 p.m. when Summer gets here.

It's a scheme highly satisfactory to city folks, but not so well liked by farmers. They follow the sun rather than the clock, so they'll be starting their work day one hour later by the clock. Anyone who has ever tried working a field before the morning dew has dried up knows the reason.

Even Nature resented the arbitrary switch in time. It seemed to be almost a conspiracy the way the rains continued over the week-end, effectively wiping out any use of the extra hour of daylight Sunday evening.

I can't hand a thing to the critics who lambast President Johnson for bringing General William C. Westmoreland back from Vietnam to report to the people on the war.

Demonstrators stalk the streets shouting abuse of our fighting men, and we excuse it on the democratic grounds that here in America everyone is entitled to free speech. How then can you criticize the business of letting the people hear directly from their Vietnam war commander?

Frankly, one word from Westmoreland is worth more than all the mouthings of all the demonstrators in this wide world. Demonstrators are suspect, to say the least—puppets on strings manipulated by Communists working for the Hanoi gang that is making war on our fighting men.

This is war. This is a soldier's job. Therefore a soldier's report is the one vital and truthful word that we want to hear and must believe.

Tornadoes Touch in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes touched down Sunday at Woodson, 12 miles south of Little Rock, and at a point six miles north of Mulberry in northwestern Arkansas. Some damage was reported, but there were no injuries.

Tornadoes also were sighted in the air at Collegeville and Sweethome near Little Rock, and at a point 6-10 miles southwest of the city.

Much of the state was drenched by severe thunderstorms, and the U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock issued flood warnings for the Little Missouri River, the Caddo River from Glenwood downstream to DeGray Dam, the Ouachita River from Hot Springs to below Malvern and the Saline River in Saline County.

Lightning caused a fire at the home of Frank Kent of Little Rock, but it was quickly extinguished by firemen.

At Hot Springs, tower personnel at the airport were forced to abandon the tower as winds with gusts up to 55 miles per hour struck the area.

Half-inch hail was reported at Greers Ferry Lake. Heavy rain and high winds were reported in Southwest Arkansas, where Athens reported 3.25 inches of rain, Langley, 2.5 inches and Glenwood 3.33 inches.

The Crawford County sheriff's office reported that the tornado near Mulberry uprooted trees, bowled over barns and lifted the roofs off houses. He said telephone lines were down in the area.

Romney Is Considering Nomination

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who says he is conducting a "hot courtship" with the idea of going after the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, said Saturday night that people who want to protest "what's going on in Washington" should do it in the Republican Party.

Romney was in Little Rock to speak at an appreciation dinner for Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and to meet with the Arkansas Republican State Committee.

Although polls indicate Romney would be hurt more than President Johnson by the candidacy of George Wallace for president, Romney said he felt Wallace's candidacy would hurt the Democrats more than the Republicans.

The Michigan governor said he felt the electorate would realize a third party movement would not have any lasting value.

Romney said this was his first trip south of Virginia and that he was pleased with the "friendly reception."

Rockefeller agreed with Romney that Wallace would have little impact on the Arkansas vote. Rockefeller declined to Romney for the presidential nomination as his brother, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, has done.

"I think we in Arkansas and throughout the South are entitled to more exposure" from the potential presidential candidates," Rockefeller said.

Romney declined to discuss the tactical aspects of the war in Vietnam, but said once again that he was "opposed to massive escalation" of the war. He said the enemy's strength was in guerrilla warfare and because of this the outcome of the conflict could not be determined by the strength and magnitude of U.S. military efforts.

Romney told the Arkansas Republican State Committee that the GOP was trying to make it clear that the Republican Party cares about people. He said the Democrats have become involved with special interests whereas the Republicans have no dominant special interest groups.

Romney said a third party serves only as a "protest of the women" and that the South will be better off building a strong two-party system.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes and high winds whipped across parts of Minnesota Sunday night leaving 16 persons dead, more than 100 injured and property damage estimated in the millions.

By ROBERT B. FRANKLIN

WASECA, Minn. (AP) — Searchers probed through splintered rubble of homes smashed by tornadoes at Waseca and Albert Lea today grimly looking for more bodies in the aftermath of a night of storm terror which left a dozen dead, over 100 injured and property damage in the millions at eight communities and numerous farms.

A band of possibly a half-dozen tornadoes smashed across a 50-mile-wide area of southern Minnesota around the dinner hour Sunday night. "It was horrible!" exclaimed Mrs. Archie Drahelm of Waseca. "We were sitting at the dinner table eating when the picture window hit me and my husband right in the face. There was no warning. There was this terrible rain falling and all of a sudden I was diving along the floor with glass all around me."

She and her husband were treated for cuts at a hospital and released. Countless others were similarly taken by surprise, even though a tornado watch had been issued by the Weather Bureau for the area.

The tornadoes roared upon them in the midst of heavy rains and nearing dusk, which apparently prevented them from watching the skies closely.

Witnesses said the Waseca warning siren began blaring a couple of minutes after the tornado had passed. One of the first on the scene at Waseca was Arthur Kost, whose ambulance service in Mankato took two ambulances to the stricken town of 6,100 some 25 miles to the east.

"I picked up two dead people, one of whom was almost decapitated," said Kost. "I saw several cars that had been knocked around like balls. At first, the hospital was a mass of confusion. People were sitting on chairs and lying on stretchers."

Waseca had five deaths confirmed Sunday night, and Sheriff Donald Eustice said, "I wouldn't be surprised if we found several more bodies." More than 60 persons were treated for injuries ranging from minor to critical. Forty-two were hospitalized.

About 20 Waseca homes were destroyed and 50 damaged as the twister cut a path two blocks wide and eight blocks long — touching down in the southeast part of the town, then skipping over a lake only to begin smashing homes again on the other side.

Albert Lea had a wider area of destruction, but the known death toll there was two—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Manuel of Al.

UA Nursing Accredited

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas was notified Saturday that the National League for Nursing's review board has fully accredited the four-year nursing program at the University Medical Center here.

Accreditation was lifted July 1, 1964. The accreditation is retroactive to the graduating class of June 1966.

Dr. David W. Mullins, president of the university, said the league's action is a result of more than two years of extensive efforts to correct the deficiencies which were called to the attention of the university on the last accreditation visit.

Cheaters at Bingo Had Better Beware

By RAY KOHN
NEW YORK (AP) — Bingo cheaters beware! The city is set to hire housewives as spies and, if they spot skulduggery, your number will be up.

Licenses Commissioner Joel J. Tyler, announcing the plan Sunday, said the women would be undercover agents.

"I'm going to send teams to particular games in each of the boroughs," he said. "It isn't that we suspect any widespread cheating, but some bingo fans become real experts in playing this game. So expert that they win all the time, and they win because they've learned how to cheat."

As for the female spy squad, Tyler commented, "I'm not going to say publicly how many we're going to hire."

The commissioner said the city realized $800,000 in fees from bingo games last year and quoted a report saying New York State bingo buffs spent $30.8 million in 1964.

The state gets a $12.50 fee and the city $10 for each "occasion" at which the game is played. Bingo games are conducted by many religious organizations and clubs, with volunteers running the games.

Tyler told of his bingo spy plans on the WHN radio program "New York Speaks Out."

Plans call for the women agents to work two nights a week. They'll be paid $20 a night to play bingo and observe. If they lose, they'll be reimbursed. If they win, the extra cash goes to the city.

Congressman's Charge Denied by Steel Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman's charge that American steel companies probably imported much of the foreign steel from which they want trade protection is denied by one major producer.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., raised the charge Sunday in a report to the House on the 70-nation trade talks at Geneva. Joseph L. Block, board chairman of Inland Steel Corp., said in Chicago his firm "has purchased no imported steel and has no intention of doing so."

Roger Blough, head of U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel manufacturer, scheduled a news conference for this afternoon.

Curtis said the U.S. steel industry "has more than held its own against competing materials," and added that "the very industries whose representatives are opposing imports in Washington may be in fact large purchasers of foreign steel."

Block said Curtis "has given credence to certain shopwork, discredited and false comments made by individuals not truly familiar with the industry."

Block said foreign steel is entering U.S. markets below domestic prices because of overseas government subsidies and cheaper labor costs.

He said "special temporary legislation should be enacted by the Congress to partially close this gap."

The steel industry launched a drive Feb. 8 for enactment of a temporary levy on steel imports in order to, it said, protect an essential defense industry and maintain living standards of American workers.

Curtis said, "Though the portion of the U.S. market taken by imports is larger, the total steel pie has increased so much that there has been no damage."

He said U.S. steel companies probably bought steel abroad rather than admit to old customers that they could not supply steel and perhaps lose them.

Curtis said, "Conditions in the steel industries of Europe and Britain make the United States steel industry look like a very healthy hypochondriac."

Three MIGS Downed by Americans

By GEORGE ESPEY

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots shot down three more communist MIG's over North Vietnam today while just south of the demilitarized zone U. S. Marines suffered an inflicted heavy casualties battling North Vietnamese soldiers for a strategic hill.

A Marine spokesman said 49 Marines were killed and 156 wounded as they fought foot by foot Sunday up the slopes of twin-peaked Hill 881. The Marines have had 86 men killed and 240 wounded in the past week in the area.

The spokesman said the Marines killed 180 Communists. Elements of two Marine battalions clung to their positions overnight and moved forward today in a new attempt to take the summit for use as an outpost for checking North Vietnamese movements. There are reported to be 35,000 North Vietnamese regulars in and around the demilitarized zone, possibly poised for a major assault.

As the Marines halted their advance late Sunday, tactical bombers and B52s dumped tons of explosives on the North Vietnamese positions.

The air war flared to a new intensity with 133 missions over North Vietnam and a record 577 strikes over the South.

Two U.S. Army helicopters collided over the Bien Hoa Airbase, 15 miles northwest of Saigon, late today and "killed" a U.S. military spokesman said.

The MIG kills brought to 48 the total number reported shot down in the war, including four in the last two days. The U.S. command has announced the loss of 13 U.S. planes to MIGs.

There was no announcement whether any U.S. planes were lost in the latest dogfights, but in a delayed report the U.S. command said an Air Force F-4C Phantom was downed by ground fire April 29. The two crewmen were listed as missing. It was the 522nd American plane reported lost over the North.

U.S. Navy pilots from 7th Fleet carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin were credited with bagging two of the MIGs today. Whether they were the late-model 21s or the earlier, less maneuverable 17s was not known. The specific area where they were shot down was not announced.

In the third kill, a U.S. Air Force Phantom drove a MIG17 into the ground during a dogfight between eight F4C Phantoms and eight MIGs about 20 miles southwest of Hanoi.

Survivor of Crash to Fly Again

By JAMES F. DONOHUE
OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — The lone survivor of the Air Force radar picket plane which crashed off Nantucket Island says he is ready to fly in the same type of plane again as soon as he is able.

"I like to fly," said 1st Lt. Joseph L. H. Guenet, 29, of Island Pond, Vt., at a hospital news conference Sunday. "I believe the aircraft is basically a sound aircraft."

The deaths of 15 other crewmen in the crash Tuesday night brought to 50 the toll in three crashes of the huge, $7.3-million Otis-based planes within 22 months.

Otis has temporarily grounded the craft for inspection. Congressional and Air Force investigators also are studying its safety.

Guenet, father of two young children, said the plane was at about 2,000 feet some eight minutes after taking off from Otis "when we felt something like a small explosion and then there was fire on the right side."

"We went into a dive and then leveled off and then we hit something hard," he said. "The first thing I knew after Guenet said he was at his post in the center of the plane as it prepared to ditch and could not tell if the pilot, Col. James P. Lyle, 47, maneuvered the burning craft away from Nantucket toward the open sea.

"Col. Lyle did not talk to us except to tell us to prepare for ditching," Guenet said. "But that is normal procedure whenever you are over water."

Witnesses of the crash reported seeing the plane swoop away from the island and head out to sea, crashing about a mile off Nantucket's southern shore.

"I don't know if the aircraft exploded on impact," Guenet said. "I'm told it did. If it did I don't know how I survived."

"I knew I was in shock when I was in the water," he said, "because I remember being very angry at all boat owners because no boat would come out and pick me up."

Andrews Is Winner in Hurdles

By RALPH ROUNTON

In the most record-productive meet of the year, the Hope High track team managed a fifth place finish at the Region IV-AA Championships, Saturday night at Crossett.

With 20 points Hope trailed winner Crossett, Camden, Samckover, and Warren. Buzz Andrews scored 12½ of Hope's points in the hurdles and the relays.

Two state records were broken, both by Crossett athletes. Karl Salb, leading high-school shotputter in the nation and sought by many major universities, bested his previous nation's best in the shot put with a heave of 66 feet, 9¼ inches. This betters his state meet record by nearly seven feet.

The best high-school mile run in the state of Arkansas was turned in by little Roberto Lenarduzzi, an Italian exchange student in Crossett. Lenarduzzi kicked the last 660 yards for a 4:17.7. No one has come within seven seconds of this time in the history of Arkansas high-school track.

Buzz Andrews of Hope won both the 120 hurdles and 180 low hurdles events. Buzz equaled his previous best in the highs, racing to a time of 15.4. In the lows Andrews bettered the school record by .5 of a second and came within .4 of the state's best with a time of 19.9. David Jones of Hope finished fourth in the lows to gain a state meet berth.

The 440 relay team, made of James Bradley, Billy Gibson, Stan Parris, and Joe McMurrugh came fifth in a time of 45.9. Fifth place was also picked up by the mile relay team of Parris, Buzz Andrews, Luther Shaw, and Allan Phillips. Their time was 3:35.5.

Running against the best half-milers in the state, Allan Phillips ran his best race ever, 2:03.9, but still finished fifth in back of Lenarduzzi, who won in 2:00.1.

Lower Court Reversed in Land Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court reversed today the award of $35,000 in circuit court in Crawford County for right of way near Interstate 40.

The Highway Commission argued that Roy Cromer, owner of the land, was seeking to prove that the land was more valuable as a result of Interstate 40.

The commission condemned the 670-by-25-foot stretch of land to complete four lanes on U.S. 71 in the area.

The Supreme court also affirmed circuit court in St. Francis County in a jury award of $2,500 to Herman B. Young for .33 acres of land taken by the state Highway Commission in a land condemnation suit.

The court also upheld the second-degree murder conviction of John T. Cromeans from circuit court in Garland County in the 1965 death of a woman in a traffic accident.

$1.5 Million Asked for Red River

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Louisiana - Arkansas delegation asked Congress today to appropriate $26,270,000-$4,153,000 above budget recommendations — for the Ouachita River basin program in the two states.

The request came in testimony to a House appropriations subcommittee considering funds for water projects in the year starting July 1. The two-state delegation is to repeat its testimony Tuesday to a similar Senate subcommittee.

H. K. Thatcher of Camden, Ark., executive vice president of the Ouachita River Valley Association, said the above-budget amounts were needed to keep basin projects on schedule and to cover costs of necessary additional work.

"It is important to the security of the nation and to our prosperity that these projects advance on schedule and not be allowed to lag as some of them must if forced to proceed on the limited recommendations in the president's budget," Thatcher said.

The delegation asked $10.6 million for construction work on the 9-foot navigation channel on the Ouachita through Louisiana and to Camden Ark. The budget recommended $8,-

Bingo is a form of lottery. Numbers are drawn and announced. Players may hold one or more cards and mark the numbers when they appear on their cards. A set of five numbers running horizontally, vertically or diagonally wins.

One Bronx woman, Tyler said, was arrested last week. "She pasted little paper squares with the winning numbers on her playing card," the commissioner said. "And just to make sure, she had confederates sitting on either side of her to verify her wins."

Tyler said there were many other ways of cheating at bingo, but "I don't want to go into detail about it—I don't want to give anybody ideas."

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. AND MRS. RONALD WELLS SMITH

Lovely in its simplicity was the wedding on Sunday, April 16 of Miss Susan Carole Edwards and Ronald Wells Smith in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Camden. The ceremony was performed at 2:30 in the afternoon before a background of greenery and candelabra with Dr. John Maddox officiating. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards of Camden and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wells Smith of Hope.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of white crepe with a scoop neckline and empire A-line skirt trimmed in satin. A sash of satin encircled the waist and tied in a bow at the back with streamers extending to the hem of the skirt. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a matching satin bow, and she carried a cascade of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Cynthia Edwards of Camden was her sister's only attendant and wore a floor-length dress of pink linen with bell sleeves finished with wide lace and velvet ribbon. She wore a pink bow in her hair and carried a single long-stemmed Queen Elizabeth rose.

Tony Smith of Hope and Fayetteville served as best man for his brother.

Prior to the ceremony Ronnie Edwards, brother of the bride, lighted the candles, and a program of wedding music was played by David Glaze, organist. Ushers were Whitney White, Larry Pritchard, Bobby Bennett, David Barwick, and Ronnie Edwards.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Edwards wore a dress of yellow silk linen, and the groom's mother wore a green crepe dress. Both wore glameilla corsages.

Following the reception held at the church, the couple left for a trip along the Gulf Coast. They will be at home in New Orleans, where he is associated with Shell Oil Company as an accountant. Those attending the wedding from Hope included Mrs. Clara Smith and Mrs. Clyde Smith, grandmothers of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Poteet, uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bode, Mr. and Mrs. David Barwick, Mr. and Mrs. William Tyler, and Michael Braden.

PAST PRESIDENTS OF CLUB RECOGNIZED

Past Presidents of the Friday Music Club were given special recognition at the monthly meeting of the club on April 28 in the home of Mrs. B. C. Hyatt. Of the 18 past presidents those attending were Mesdames: Hendrix Spraggins, B. W. Edwards, B. C. Hyatt, John Gardner, Jr., Talbot Feild, Jr., E. P. Young, Jr., Jewel V. Moore, Jr., Arch Arch Wylie, and Thomas E. Hays, Jr.

In memory of Mrs. J. C. Carlton each president placed a pink rose, the club flower, in a glass basket during a brief ceremony. The program, presented by the past presidents, opened with two Bach preludes played on two pianos by Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr., and Mrs. John Gardner, Jr. Also at the two pianos Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr. and Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins played "March of the Siamese Children" from the "King and I."

All past presidents in attendance formed a choral group and sang "Children's Prayer" from "Hansel and Gretel" and "Trees," accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Strech. Mrs. Strech and Mrs. Hyatt played a two piano duet arrangement of "Valse" by Arensky, and Mrs. Thomas Hays, Jr. sang anaria from "Carmen," accompanied by Mrs. Hyatt.

A piano ensemble with excerpts from "Carmen" by Bizet was performed. At the two pianos were Mesdames Moore, Spraggins, Strech, and Hyatt. The program was climaxed with everyone present joining in singing, "You'll Never Walk Alone" with eight-hand piano accompaniment. Club President, Mrs. Sam W. Strong, Jr. had charge of a business meeting. Mrs. Strong announced plans for Music Week May 7-13 and that the last of the fine arts programs from Henderson State would be here May 19. It will be "The Marriage of Figaro," and details will be made public soon.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — "Yes, they look just like those two killers — especially the dark one."

That comment can be heard around the Finney County courthouse these days as the trial of Richard Eugene Hickock and Perry Edward Smith is being replayed for the filming of "In Cold Blood."

Hickock, 33, and Smith, 36, were hanged in Kansas State Penitentiary after being convicted of murdering the four members of the Clutter family in nearby Holcomb. The two killers are now being played by Hollywood actors Robert Blake and Scott Wilson, who face the prospect of worldwide fame after lives of obscurity.

Indeed the dark one — Robert Blake, 33 — does bear a haunting resemblance to the moody, murderous Perry Smith. Blake is dark, strongly built, with short legs.

Wilson, 25, is handsomer than the other killer, Hickock. He is taller, too, as has been noted by Truman Capote, who spent much time with the condemned men in research for his book, "In Cold Blood."

Both actors seem moody and almost overwhelmed by the sudden burst of publicity concerning their roles. They had grown accustomed to years of agonizing waiting as undiscovered Hollywood actors.

"Me, I hung around town five-six years until this happened," said Wilson, a slender, thin-faced young man. "I had to take any job I could find — grocery box boy, junior draftsman, parking lot attendant, bus boy, gas station man, mail clerk, you name it. Guys like me who want to be actors can't take a regular job because you can't leave it when an acting job comes along."

Wilson, an Atlanta, Ga., bachelor who hitchhiked to Hollywood to become an actor, stuck it out with little encouragement. His role in a forthcoming Sidney Poitier film brought him to the attention of Richard Brooks, maker of "In Cold Blood." He was interviewed, tested and handed the role.

Robert Blake, the dark one, is a cooler cat. Born in Nutley, N.J., he drifted through the United States and in and out of the Army, landing in Hollywood in 1958. He has had more experience than Wilson, especially during the brave, abortive repertory season on TV of the Richard Boone Show. Blake appeared in 26 of the 30 dramas. "It's only in the past three or four years that my wife and I decided I was doing well enough so we could start a family," said Blake, now the father of two.

Still, he is unsure of his new position and is likely to answer in an erratic and combative way questions thrown at him by correspondents who have been pouring in to observe the location.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

LETTERS THAT LEAVE A COL-UMNIST GUESSING

Dear Helen: Is there any legal way I can keep my husband and his family from getting my children if anything happens to me?

Don't get me wrong, I'm in good health, and we all are on fine terms. We haven't had a falling-out. But I have very good reasons for not wanting my children raised by them. I'm sure they would stand up in court.--W.R.

Dear W: The only legal way to separate your husband from his children is via a bitter court battle, and I don't see how you could make it stand up, since you say you are on fine terms with him and his family. You might consult a lawyer, but my best advice to you is "Stay Healthy."

Dear Helen: Is it always best to prevent teen marriages? The have - to - kind I mean? I can't seem to think straight--if we don't give our consent to our under-age son's marriage, will he hate us? If we do, will he hate us later on?

He is 16, going with a lovely intelligent, mature girl. They didn't want this to happen, but they insist that now a baby is on the way, they want marriage more than anything else in the world. They have been going together over a year, always said this was the real thing, that someday they'd wed.

The girl's parents, who like our son as much as we like their daughter, were, of course shocked, but they have recovered faster than we have. They say the young couple can live with them, and they will provide money toward their schooling. Our son already has a part-time job. He gets excellent marks in school and we had high hopes for college. His grades have dropped since this trouble arose.

We have read that three-fourths of hurry-up teen marriages fail and the percentage is even greater when young people must live with his or her family. But when both are so sure--what's the best solution, Helen?--WHICH WAY Dear W.W.: A hurry-up marriage isn't always complete disaster, as many happy young couples will tell you. Whether it succeeds or fails depends on maturity, finances, approval by in-laws, and most of all--real caring. I'd say your son's marriage has a much better chance than most--and maybe somehow or other he'll also make it through college. --H.

YOUR HELPING HAND DEPARTMENT

Dear Helen: Your readers are the greatest people alive! I've received so many lovely thoughtful, heart-touching letters from them. I'd like to answer them all, but, as you know, my writing time is limited, so may I tell them through your column how much they mean to me? I was amazed at how many letters came from young people between the ages of 11 and 17. I wish I could express in words the wonderful bright sunshine my many, many new friends have put into my life. But all I can say is, "Thank you!"--EDITH ELTINGHAM, 1776 W. Chestnut St., Shamokin, Pa.

Dear Edith: Here's a sample of how your courage affected my readers.

Dear Helen: I took a long, hard look at myself after reading about Edith Eltringham whose days are filled with "doing for others" while she herself slowly turns to stone. I am the product of a broken home, grew up in abject poverty, with little love. I have made the mistake of "looking back" too much. Now I am going to look life straight in the eye. I am starting today to weed out the malice, distrust and fears that have haunted me half a life-time. I shall consider every day as a precious gift to savor and share with others. Please thank Edith for her inspiration!--NEW VISION.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amazing experiences. Address Helen Bittel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1967, Inc.

New Look in L.A. Working for Giants

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
The new look in Los Angeles is working out nicely — for the San Francisco Giants.

"They're not Dodgers any more. At least, not the Dodgers I've known," Jim Davenport said Sunday after helping the Giants beat Don Drysdale 5-1 to complete their first three-game sweep at Los Angeles in 10 years.

"It's strange to look around and not see Sandy Koufax, Maury Wills, Tommy Davis, Lou Johnson and Willie Davis," added Davenport, whose two-run pinch single capped San Francisco's decisive seventh inning rally. "They aren't the same team without them."

Koufax' retirement, the loss of Wills and Tommy Davis in trades and injuries to Johnson and Willie Davis all have contributed to the National League champions' early-season troubles. The Dodgers have dropped 10 of their 16 starts and are mired in eighth place, seven games behind league-leading Cincinnati.

The Giants didn't miss the absent Dodgers in taking the first two games of the series 5-4 and 5-0, and they were happy to see holdover Drysdale in Sunday's windup game.

The loss was Drysdale's seventh straight to San Francisco, although the veteran right hander still holds a 29-25 career edge over the Giants.

While Bob Bolin and reliever Frank Linzy combined for a three-hitter that lifted the slow-starting Giants past Los Angeles into seventh place, Cincinnati divided a doubleheader with the New York Mets and moved 3½ games up on second-place St. Louis.

The Reds, beaten 2-0 by Don Cardwell's three-hitter in the opener, took the second game 3-2 behind rookie Gary Nolan. The Cardinals bowed to Pittsburgh 2-0 as Juan Pizarro fired a four-hitter and his catcher, Jerry May, drove in both runs with a homer and single.

Philadelphia split a twin bill with Atlanta, winning 6-4 before falling 6-3 in the nightcap, and rookie Rich Nye's four-hitter led the Chicago Cubs past Houston 4-1 in other NL games.

Detroit swept a pair from Baltimore 2-2 and 4-1 — although held hitless by Steve Barber and Stu Miller in the opener — in the American League. The New York Yankees beat California 4-1 in 10 innings but lost the second game 4-2; the Chicago White Sox trimmed Cleveland 4-2 after dropping the first game 2-1; Washington took two from Minnesota 7-3 and 3-0, and Kansas City blanked Boston 1-0.

The Giants caught up with Drysdale in the seventh after he had yielded one run and two hits — while striking out nine.

Successive singles by Jim Hart, Tom Haller and Ollie Brown sent the Giants ahead 2-1 before Hal Lanier sacrificed and Davenport, batting for Bolin, delivered the two-run crushing blow.

Barber Hurls No Hitter, But Loses

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Steve Barber should forget about no-hitters. He'd be better off pitching a no-walker.

Barber, the Baltimore Oriole who was supposed to have trouble with his left arm, displayed trouble only with his control

Sunday as he and Stu Miller became the first pitching pair in baseball history to hurl a no-hitter and lose in nine innings.

Barber did the bulk of the work, holding Detroit hitless for 2-3 innings. But he walked 10 Tigers, and after the last one, there was no holding Manager Hank Bauer any longer.

He called in Miller, who preserved the no-hitter but not the victory as the Tigers scored on Mark Belanger's error and won the first game of the doubleheader 2-1.

The Tigers' first run, also scored in the ninth inning, came on a wild pitch — minutes after Barber issued his eighth and ninth walks and just before he recorded No. 10, as Mickey Stanley trotted to first with that walk. Bauer walked out of the dugout.

"I tried to get it for you," Bauer told Barber when he reached the mound. "If you can't get the ball over, you don't deserve to win," replied the 28-year-old southpaw, who also hit two batters and made an error.

After history has been made, Barber was quick to absolve Bauer of any bad-guy charge for not letting him get the no-hitter by himself.

"If I hadn't been pitching a no-hitter, I would have been out long before that," Barber said, his left elbow resting in ice. "I was out of gas in the fifth inning. I'm not upset about losing the no-hitter. I'm more concerned about losing the game."

"No-hitters are not worth anything in the books unless you win."

Barber came almost as close to a no-hitter in his first start of the season, exactly two weeks before. In that game, the Oriole veteran held California hitless until Jim Fregosi doubled with one out in the ninth.

He walked just three Angels, but his control trouble picked up considerably in his second start on the second Sunday of the season. Pitching against Kansas City, he walked nine batters in 5 2-3 innings. He topped that by one in his latest Sunday start.

"All his pitches were really moving," Detroit's Norm Cash said. "He was hard to hit. Nothing was down the middle."

Nothing much was over the plate anywhere else either. In other American League games Detroit won the second game 6-4, Washington swept Minnesota 7-3 and 3-0, Kansas City edged Boston 1-0, Cleveland edged Chicago 2-1 before losing 4-2 and New York defeated California 4-1 in 10 innings, then lost 4-2.

In the National League Pittsburgh stopped St. Louis 2-0, San Francisco whipped Los Angeles 5-1, Chicago beat Houston 4-1, New York blanked Cincinnati 2-0 before bowing 3-2 and Atlanta topped Philadelphia 6-3 after losing 6-4.

In only one previous instance had more than one pitcher combined for a no-hitter. That was in 1956 when Cincinnati's John Klippstein, Hershel Freeman and Joe Black held Milwaukee hitless for nine innings. However, the Braves got a hit off Black in the 10th and then won 2-1 in the 11th.

Barber started himself on the way out by walking Cash and Ray Oyler with none out in the ninth. Earl Wilson sacrificed the runners to second and third, and Willie Horton fouled out. Then came the wild pitch and in came the tying run and Miller.

Don Wert hit a grounder up the middle, shortstop Luis Aparicio made a fine stop and flipped to second for the force on Stanley. But Belanger dropped the ball, and pinch runner Jake Wood was in with the winning run.

The Tigers finally got a hit in the second inning of the second — Jim Northrup's one-out double — and sealed the victory with six runs in the fifth inning.

Washington's Barry Moore came close to a no-hitter, allowing only a two-out single in the sixth inning by Minnesota's Cesar Tovar in the second game, Moore retired the first 17 batters.

In the opener the Senators erupted for five runs in the fifth, two on Bob Saverine's single and two more on a double by Frank Howard.

Jim Nash pitched a five-hitter for Kansas City, and Danny Carter hit a homer for the only run off Boston's Darrell Brandon.

Ryun Was Confident of Record

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Sensational Jim Ryun said he was pretty confident all along that Kansas would set a world record in the distance medley in the Drake Relays here over the weekend.

Ryun, who became 20 years old Saturday, celebrated by coming up with a 3:55.6 mile anchor leg — his second sub-four-minute showing during the two-day meet — in leading the Jayhawks to a 9:33.8 clocking. That was two-tenths of a second faster than the world and American mark set by UCLA two years ago.

The Kansas dandy, a near unanimous choice as the meet's outstanding athlete, said after the first quarter of his anchor, he knew the world mark was well within Kansas' grasp.

"I did 56.8," said the slender runner, "and I knew we had a good chance because I wasn't tiring."

He said the biggest concern of the quartet was whether they could retain their stamina.

Ryun followed his opening stint with 62.5 and 62.4 legs, then finished with an amazing 53.9 lap.

It was the first time anyone had ever run two sub-four-minute races in 24 hours. A year ago, Ryun was under four minutes twice in three days. It was Jim's 17th sub four-minute effort.

Ryun's performance stole the show from gigantic Randy Matson, who became the first man ever to win two Drake events three years in a row.

Matson shattered his own Drake shotput mark Saturday with a 66-foot, 8½-inch effort, after winning his third consecutive discus title with a disappointing 189½ the day before.

Randy, who got his winning shot toss on his first throw, said he was hampered somewhat by the cool weather.

Van Nelson of St. Cloud, Minn., State, who likes to run about 25 miles a day, set records by winning both the distance events for the second year in a row.

He won the six-mile in 28:48.5 and the three-mile in 13:21.3.

Penn Relays Times Bested Drake Relays

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It may have been that new synthetic track or even the weather, but when all the track and field events were completed, contestants in the Penn Relays bested those in the Drake Relays.

In 18 comparable events, Penn competitors turned in better performances in nine, Drake was superior in seven, and the results in two other events were identical.

Penn, with its new track, showed superiority in the running events, which usually find better marks at Des Moines. Considering that Drake had Kansas, with its sensational Jim Ryun, the 9-7 score for the performers at Franklin Field was a clear victory.

Rated the world's greatest middle distance runner, Ryun celebrated his 20th birthday with a 3:55.6 mile which led Kansas to a world record 9:33.8 in the distance medley. At Penn the event was won by Villanova in a meet record time of 9:39.6.

But Villanova topped the Ryun-led four-mile relay team finishing the event in 16:39.7 compared to the 16:43 mark set by Kansas. Ryun had a 3:59.1 mile in this one.

Over the years, Penn has turned in better marks in the field events, but this time had to contend with Texas A&M's Randy Matson at Drake, which automatically cost the easterners the shotput and discus.

Twelve meet records were shattered at Drake and 10 at Penn, with one tied.

This Is a Big Week
in Racing

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The big week in American thoroughbred racing opened today with just one prep — and that of questionable status — remaining before Saturday's 93rd running of the Kentucky Derby.

The prep is Tuesday's one-mile $15,000-added Derby Trial with six Derby eligibles probable starters, and barring an upset, only three of these — Cool Reception, Barb's Delight and Lightning Orphan — are likely to be in the 1¼ miles of the Derby.

Cool Reception, owned by Mrs. W. J. Seitz and Mrs. Vincent Reid of Toronto, is expected to draw the most support from bettors Tuesday.

The son of Nearctic, who also sired 1964 Derby winner, Northern Dancer, has won twice in five starts as a 3-year-old, including the Fort Lauderdale Handicap at 1 1-16 miles April 8 at Gulfstream Park.

Lightning Orphan, owned by Freeman Keyes of Chicago, has finished second in all three starts this year.

Barb's Delight, product of Kentucky's hard boot company, chalked up five victories in six starts last year for his three owners — Gene Spalding, Guy Huguette and trainer Hal Steele Jr., but was a badly beaten seventh in the rich Garden State Stakes. This year, however, he has been something less than sensational.

Sleepy Pat, Glengary, Monitor and Betemight are the other likely Trial starters.

In other Derby doings, Ruken, the Santa Anita Derby winner, enhanced his stature by winning the seven-furlong Stepping Stone Saturday at Churchill Downs, home of the Kentucky Derby.

Trainer Clyde Turk summed up the California-bred colt's performance in two words, "perfect good."

Dr. Isby, another Californian, finished 2½ lengths behind Ruken, and 79-year-old trainer Frank Childs, winner in 1959 with Tony Lee, said he would be back Saturday. However, trainer Henry Forest, who saddled 1966 Derby winner Kauai King, said Balout, third in the Stepping Stone, probably would not go in the Derby.

Ruken, owned by Louis Rowan, now has won three straight and is rated the second Derby favorite at 3-1.

Favored Damascus, 7-5, spent a lazy day Sunday, staying out of the rain. The Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft-owned winner of Aqueduct's Bay Shore and Wood Memorial is scheduled to work out Tuesday.

Cool Reception, Louisiana Derby winner, Ask The Fare and Wheatley Stable's Successor, 1966 2-year-old champion, all galloped in the rain at Churchill Downs Sunday.

Reason To Hail, the California Derby winner, became the last probable Derby starter to arrive at the Downs, coming in by plane from New York Sunday.

Rodriguez Is Winner at Dallas

By PAUL RECER

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Juan (Chit Chi) Rodriguez, down on his luck for three years, won the $20,000 first-place purse in the Texas Open Golf Tournament Sunday and promptly donated $5,000 to some others down on their luck.

The small Puerto Rican, who's a favorite with the gallery because of his clowning antics, was deadly serious as he fired five-under-par 66 to surge from second place to the championship in the 72-hole tournament. He had a 277.

New Zealander Bob Charles, who shared second place with Rodriguez following the second round, fired a hot four-under-par front nine in the final 18, added a birdie on the back side, then canceled it with a bogey to finish one-stroke behind the red-hot Rodriguez.

Bob Goalby, who shared the lead two days, fired a fine three-under-par 68. The Palm Springs, Calif. pro finished at 278 to tie for second place with Charles.

The two other third-round leaders, Miller Barber and Billy Casper, faltered and fell to one-over 72s. They finished at 282 behind Charles and Goalby.

Rodriguez deadlocked for the lead in the first round by firing a 68, but his putter turned to ice on the second and third rounds and he fell behind.

He stayed on the lighted practice green putting for hours after the round both nights and said Sunday it was his putter that won it for him.

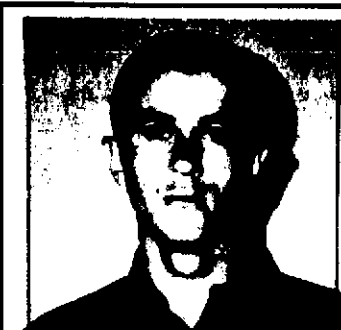

"This is the best putting I've done in two years," he said.

The 31-year-old, 125-pounder said he was going for the Pecan Valley Country Club course record of 65 so he could win a standing offer of $6,500.

"I was thinking about the course record all the way," he said. "I'm giving $5,000 to the people hurt in the Chicago tornado."

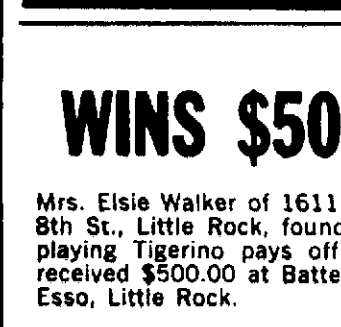

Even though he didn't beat the record, he said, the tornado victims will get a check anyway.

EDUCATION TODAY
by Charles Cogen

There are too many children in the nation who are growing up without the basic skills necessary for future success as citizens. This is a nationwide crisis and the convergence of disadvantaged populations in slum areas, the lack of socioeconomic opportunities, the marginal cultural experiences, as well as the exposure to impoverished schools, perpetuate and further precipitate a host of social evils.

In view of our economic wealth and our great reservoirs of knowledge, we are spending relatively less on our schools than many poorer countries. Schools today lack the commitment necessary to fulfill basic educational needs.

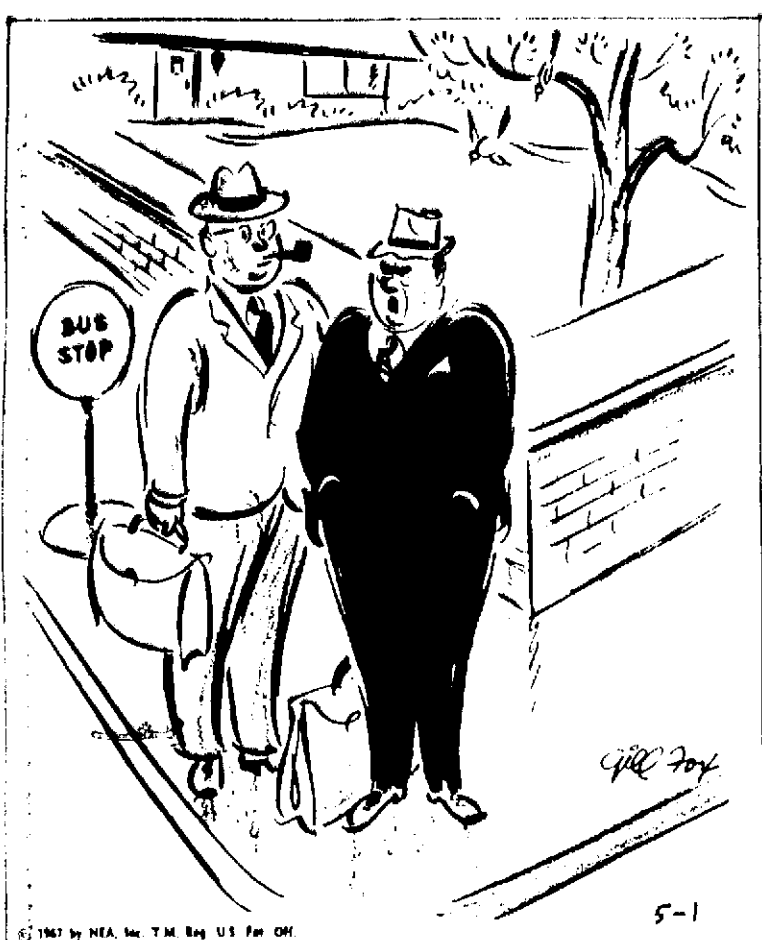

Well-meaning spokesmen, trying to meet the crisis, do battle for one component or another of a sound school system. They may struggle for experienced teachers or smaller classes or a full school day for every child. Each of these components is unquestionably important; but a school is a unit whose health is indivisible.

The Effective Schools program, initiated by the United Federation of Teachers in New York City, and now on the verge of expansion across the nation, is bringing new hope to our urban schools. Already evidence points to success in terms of pupil achievement, reduction in school and classroom tensions, in an increase in teacher, pupil, and parent morale, and in greater community interest and participation.

(Mr. Cogen is national president of the 130,000 member American Federation of Teachers. Free copies of the Effective Schools Program may be obtained by writing to him at 716 North Dear Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611.)

New Track Helps Penn Contestants

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Would you believe that after all the track and field events were completed, the Penn and Drake Relays, comparatively speaking, wound up in a dead heat?

In 18 comparable events, Penn competitors turned in better marks in eight, Drake was superior in eight and the results in two other contests were identical.

There are, however, some pertinent conclusions. Thanks to its new synthetic track, Penn has made strides in the running events, which usually find superior performances at Des Moines.

Considering that Drake had Kansas with its sensational Jim Ryun, the 8-8 standoff in track is a moral victory for the performers at Franklin Field.

Over the years, Penn has turned in better marks in the field events, but this time had to contend with Texas A&M's Randy Matson at Drake, which automatically cost the Eastern carnival the shot put and discus.

Twelve meet records were shattered at Drake and 10 at Penn, with one tied.

Ryun, who is rated the world's greatest middle distance runner, celebrated his 20th birthday with a 3:55.6 mile which led Kansas to a world record 9:33.8 in the distance medley.

At Penn, the event was won by Villanova in meet record time of 9:39.6.

Ryun also gave Drake the edge in the four-mile relay on the anchor leg as Kansas won in 16:34, better than Villanova's 16:39.7 in Philadelphia. Ryun merely ran 3:59.1 in this one.

Drake winners had the better of the relay sprints, with Texas Southern's 39.9 in the 440 outdoing Florida A&M's 40.6 at Penn, and Texas Southern's 1:23.9 besting Johnson C. Smith's 1:24.5.

In the mile and two-mile relays, Penn gained the edge, with Rice's 3:06.9 topping Iowa's 3:07.4, and Fordham's 7:21.4 eclipsing Texas Southern's 7:30.2. The sprint medley went to Drake on Michigan State's 3:17.3 to 3:17.8 at Penn by Tennessee.

The two even events were the 100-yard dash in which Carl Height of Louisiana State ran a 9.5 at Drake as did Kentucky State's Clarence Ray at Penn, and in the 120-high hurdles, 13.6 for Southern University's Willie Davenport at Drake and Villanova's Ervin Hall in Philadelphia.

In field events, Matson won the discus with a mark of 189 feet, 1/2 inch, to 179-9 by South Carolina's Art Swarts at Penn, and the shot put, 68-8 1/2 to 58-1 1/4 for Jack Harvey of Michigan.

The Penn performers won the triple jump on Aaron Hopkins' 51-1 1/2 to 50-7 by Art Baxter of New Mexico, and the javelin, 248 1/2 feet by Tennessee's George Moschis to 245-1/2 by New Mexico's Frank Burgasser.

Spraggins Paces Hope Track Team

By RALPH ROUNTON
Led by freshman John Spraggins, the Hope Junior High track team placed second in the Region IV-AA championships held at Crossett Saturday night.

Spraggins, who already holds the state record in the 440 yard dash, qualified for the state Class AA championships by placing in the top four in three individual events and three relays.

Crossett won the team title with 77 points. Hope trailing with 48 and one-third, and Texarkana Washington had 36 and one-third in the 12 team meet. Crossett won on their strength in the field events, as they were matched by Hope in the running events and the relays.

The 440 relay team, composed of Spraggins, David Still, Gary Hollis, and Terry Vines, came second in a school record time of 47.3. In a neck-to-neck finish, Crossett barely edged Hope in the 880 relay. Another school record fell here, with the team of Spraggins, Hollis, Still, and Doug Rogers bringing in a time of 1:39.2.

Still another school record was broken in the mile relay, even though Gary Hollis, who subbed for injured William Dillon, only had five minutes notice that he would run. Hollis, Spraggins, Still, and Jimmy Alford won in a time of 3:45.3.

Spraggins also won the 220 and 440 dashes, winning in impressive times of 24.0 and 52.7, respectively. Spraggins had earlier placed third in the high jump with a leap of 5-2.

Jimmy Alford qualified for the state meet by finishing second in the shot put, breaking his own school record and the previous district mark with a heave of 54-5, four inches behind the winner.

William Dillon, a dedicated performer and a solid favorite in the 880 run, pulled up lame early in the race, but gamely stayed on to place fifth, one place away from a state meet berth, in a time of 2:13.9. He is only a eighth-grader, though and fortunately can look forward to an outstanding year of competition next year.

This has been a very successful year for track at Hope, in only the second year of full-scale competition since the building of a new track at HHS. The coaching staff has done a magnificent job with the boys this year, and local fans can expect our junior high athletic program to become more prominent in the future.

NBA Moves to Seattle, San Diego

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Seattle and San Diego franchises in the National Basketball Association began stocking their clubs today in a two-day special draft.

Each of the present NBA clubs placed seven players on an untouchable list with the new clubs, picking alternately, allowed to choose one player from each club from among those who are left. That will give each of the new teams five players.

Then the 10 existing teams may name another man to the untouchable list and the new teams pick 20 more players, giving both teams 15 players.

The regular NBA draft of college players begins Wednesday.

Hope Golfers 4th in Dist. Competition

By RALPH ROUNTON
Falling before some of the better teams in the state, the Hope High golf team placed fourth in the Region IV-AA championships Saturday morning at Crossett Country Club.

With a team total of 173, the locals came behind Magnolia, Camden, and Warren. At the nine-hole turn the Hope boys only trailed the leaders by three shots, but fell back into the pack during a fatal back nine and were beaten.

Lee Fenwick, of Hope, tied for third in the individuals division, three strokes behind the winner, Sid Moore of Magnolia. Fenwick turned in nines of 38-43 for his 81.

After a somewhat disappointing round, the Hope representatives, Fenwick and Ralph Rounton, now must prepare for the Class AA state championships, to be held May 12 at the Rebsamen course in Little Rock.

Cowboy Looks at Vietnam

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CAREFREE, Ariz.—(NEA)—There is no escape from Vietnam. Ride two hours into the parched scrub-dotted desert near Phoenix, watch the hawks swirl in the impossibly blue sky and listen to the echo of war.

The ride started pleasantly after Jim Green, an 18-year-old cowboy who said he had his "fanny put in a saddle when I was 4 and told to ride," saddled up the horses. We rode into the brush and Jim talked about cowboying.

"I was breaking horses since I was 14," he said in his flat, unemotional drawl as we lingered by the ruins of a stagecoach station. "Had to. We had no money. But my granddaddy came here in a wagon train in 1911. I've got 114 relatives all over the West and all of them live in the saddle. So I guess cowboy was the only thing I ever wanted to do."

He fingered the .22 revolver at his hip. I asked him whether the weapon was a concession to tourists. "Nope. For rattlers. A dozen varieties around here and they're all over the place. Plunked 87 of them last year."

We talked about the cowboy image for awhile and about the Marlboro man and horses and cattle. Then Jim moved the conversation to another direction.

"I don't want to do anything this summer except have fun. I'll run some cattle, maybe, and break horses. Do a little range riding. Uncle Sam has his fingers on my neck and I don't think he'll let go."

"Hell, I don't want to go to Vietnam and get killed. Friends I went to school with are there. Four of them are home now—they came home in caskets. Another, a guy I used to ride with, was lucky.

"We're not very far from Vietnam, are we?"

They took his leg off at the knee. How's he going to work cattle now? It's the only thing he knows. I guess he's dead, too.

Marlboro men don't talk about war that way, I thought. I was following Jim down a narrow, rocky trail. He pushed up his well-worn Stetson as he turned to look in my direction. I could see the tiny crow's feet at his eyes.

"These people in Washington, what do they know about death?" he asked with some bitterness. "They send 17-, 18-, 19-year-old guys over to die in a country that isn't worth a hunk of cactus. Why? Is it worth the life of somebody who really hasn't lived yet?"

Jim Green wheeled his horse around and spurred it toward the stables.

THAT REALLY HELPS

NEW DELHI (AP)—Drivers contemplating trips through the crowded lanes of old Delhi would do well to take boxing lessons first.

Movement of traffic has completely collapsed various times recently during rush hours. And one evening, 20 cars were damaged in a hopeless traffic jam, during which the drivers got out and battled each other.

Jim Green kneed his mount into an easy canter, perhaps embarrassed by his outburst.

"Don't get me wrong," he said at last. "I said I didn't want to go. I didn't say I wouldn't go. I don't have to like it, do I?"

"I know when God wants me, he'll take me. It can be here or Vietnam. But if a horse fell on me here and crushed the life out of me, that's one thing. That's dying in the saddle. But I don't want some Vietnamese I never laid eyes on to shoot me in the back or throw a grenade at me. Or, worse, I don't want to come home in pieces."

I asked him how close he was to induction. "Well, they classified me 1-A the other day and it's funny—the week before I had just got out of the hospital. I got rammed by a horse and spent five days on my back."

"I've got eight busted ribs and a crunched back and all of my fingers have been broken at least twice from roping and I get classified 1-A. The Army is taking anybody, I guess."

"There aren't many cowboys left any more, are there?" I asked.

"I reckon not. You don't make much money riding 10, 12 hours a day, six days a week. Most of the wranglers are getting on in years. The country's closing in on us."

Jim Green, cowboy, said that a good chunk of land on the fringe of Phoenix used to be his family's ranch. It's all apartments and shopping centers now.

We halted our horses on a low ridge and Jim pointed toward the blue mist of mountains rising abruptly to our right. "But over the peaks," he said, "are 71 square miles of virgin land. The only way you can see it is on a horse

Walk and Be Healthy

MANY ILLS CAN BEFALL THE FEET

The common foot is subject to an uncommon variety of diseases and disorders.

And these ailments, although often minor at the outset, can develop into serious problems, especially in later life, unless the victim seeks prompt professional care.

That's the advice of the American Podiatry Association, which calls attention to Annual Foot Health Week, May 12-19, as a time for Americans to start paying more attention to their feet.

Ailments that afflict the foot include circulatory diseases, metabolic and nervous disorders, strains and sprains, weak arches, hammer toes and ulcers. The foot is also subject to such disorders as heel spurs, neuritis, foot imbalance, weak ankles, bursitis, fractures, arthritis, skin diseases, tumors, warts, and congenital and acquired deformities.

The role of the podiatrist, explains APA, is to consider the foot problems of the patient in their relation to the total health of the individual. It's the patient—not just his corns or calluses or other foot disorders—that requires treatment, the podiatrists point out.

Here's a glossary of the ailments that most often affect the foot. Usually, these are symptoms of, or related to, other health problems.

CORNS—often caused by friction and pressure. Some other contributing factors are poor circulation, joint distortion, bone deformity and improper nutrition.

CALLUSES—Like corns, calluses are a symptom not a disease. The cause must be corrected before the calluses can be cured. Chronic corns and calluses require periodic professional care. Frequently, surgery is the best approach.

INGROWN NAILS—often caused by improper trimming, although congenital incurvation, injury, ill-fitting shoes and stockings, fungus and other problems commonly identified as arch trouble can be contributing factors. Nails should be trimmed almost straight across, leaving the front edge of the nail even with or extending slightly beyond the flesh of the toe.

EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION—a contributing factor in foot odors. Daily bathing and the regular application of a foot powder will help. When these fail, seek the professional care of a podiatrist. The problem of excessive perspiration is frequently associated with emotional and metabolic disturbances, requiring consultation between the podiatrist and other specialists.

BUNIONS—caused by a joint malalignment and a weakness of the ligamentous and muscular structures of the foot and leg. The formation of bunions tends to run in families. Factors such as stress and strain and interference from shoes can aggravate the deformity. When joints are red, swollen and tender, see a podiatrist. These signs may indicate the formation of a bunion, arthritis, gout or infection. A bunion on the joint of the little toe is called a bunionette or tailor's bunion.

WARTS—often mistaken for calluses. A wart is a non-malignant skin tumor which has a blood and nerve supply of its own. Warts are usually quite painful and tend to spread if left untreated.

ATHLETE'S FOOT (also called ringworm)—a skin disease caused by a fungus which most commonly attacks the feet where it thrives best—between the toes. It is aided by the warm, moist, dark environment inside the shoe.

Florida Is in Midst of a Drought

By FRANK MURRAY
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida's peninsula—already drier than a strong martini—is getting just what the Florida Chamber of Commerce always predicts: warm, dry weather. But Floridians are screaming for cool rain. For all of April, the state had no measurable rain. Some sections, now on forest fire alerts, haven't had rain since February.

Most of the Sunshine State hasn't been parched in a quarter century. Weathermen had to go back to 1898 to find the mark broken by the drought in the Tampa area.

Only a trace of rain has fallen on Tampa this year. The 1898 record for the first four months was .16 inches. Miami had .15 inches of rain in April compared with the previous record low of .33 inches in 1943 and an average of nearly four inches for the month.

The Weather Bureau says rainfall in the state for the year is 35 to 40 per cent below normal.

In a little Baptist Church at Lake Alfred Sunday the congregation held a special prayer service for rain to "heal their land."

Key West already is rationing water, threatening to shut off anyone who wastes it.

Miami is weighing the idea of a ban on car washing and lawn sprinkling.

Everglades waterholes have dried and officials at the national park are pumping drinking water to animals at a slough on Anhinga Trail.

In Collier County, just north of the park, thousands of acres have burned off in recent weeks while firemen fought only blazes that threatened populated areas.

Irrigation pumps worked overtime in the Redlands farming areas near Miami but to-closed down.

In Lake Alfred, where no rain has fallen in the last six weeks, the Rev. James P. Dawson, pastor of the Echo Terrace Baptist church, read from the Old Testament:

"If My people which are called by My name shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sins and will heal their land."

Dawson said, "We just want the Lord to be merciful and give us some rain. We will ask the people who believe in the power of prayer and faith and God to pray for rain."

But the weathermen peeked at their radars and predicted no rain.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC skipped a rerun of "Hey Landlord" Sunday night in favor of a half-hour show called "We'll Take Manhattan." It was close to a disaster as a comedy, but it held a certain fascination for a student of television.

It was a comedy of a type the industry calls a pilot. This is a single show made primarily for network executives and sponsors to decide its possibilities as a series.

Because pilots cost so much to make — $150,000 is not out of the ordinary — they are a big loss when they fail to sell.

Each summer CBS gathers a few to run when "The Lucy Show" takes a vacation and some — but by no means all — of the loss is recovered. Usually, they are pretty sad efforts. Monday night's seemed to be spectacularly bad.

The premise was to have some Wyoming Indians claim Manhattan and pitch their tepee on Park Avenue. They acted like aborigines. If that pilot had sold, it just might have started the modern Indians on the war-path, and this time with good reason.

Television networks when dealing with delicate, adult subjects usually schedule them in the late evening, presumably after young children are in bed. NBC's "Today Show" in a rare special program in early evening time Sunday presented a full and extraordinarily frank report on "the pill," taking up in detail the whole subject of oral contraceptives.

The approach was clinical. It brought in experts to discuss the moral, religious, medical, physical and psychological aspects of the subject and it was extremely well organized and enlightening.

The same network's Sunday afternoon "Experiment in Television" series came to a close with an hour devoted to showing films made by young students of motion picture techniques.

Two of the most interesting were "The Boxer," by two British students and a cartoon by a New York University man.

"I'll be happy to pick up the food for your party, but I'll need a more accurate estimate than 'scads' and 'oodles!'"

Feeling Is Long Is on Lonely Road

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The consensus around the Senate is that in opposing the censure of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Sen. Russell B. Long is following a lonely road with dangerous political crossings ahead.

No other senator, Democrat or Republican, has stepped up yet to say that Dodd, D-Conn., should not be censured for misconduct as recommended unanimously by a special Ethics Committee of six. In his Spartan stand for his every individual member except beleaguered colleague, Long, D-La., has slashed out with a broad sword at members whose support he is likely to need in the future in his varied and often complicated enterprises as the Senate's assistant Democratic leader and chairman of its Finance Committee.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Long's offhand observation that half the senators couldn't stand the kind of inquiry that was made of Dodd was generally regarded as an example of the how to make political enemies without even trying.

He left unidentified the half he was indicting and the half he was absolving, thus clouding possibly himself. He explained that his daddy, the late Huey Long, had left him enough money so he didn't have to worry about outside financial monkey-shines.

He could afford, he said, to take the Senate in stride as "my favorite charity."

Long said the six special committee members were afraid that if they didn't bring out a censure resolution against Dodd they would be subject to "the same kind of calumny and smear" to which he said columnists had subjected the Connecticut senator. Members of the committee, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., are regarded around the Senate as men of more than ordinary patience and forbearance. They include also Sens. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah; Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.; A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla.; John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and James B. Pearson, R-Kan.

Long's thundering charge that the practice of which Dodd is accused—appropriating testimonial dinner and campaign funds to personal use—is "all too prevalent" in the Senate touched a highly sensitive political nerve. Members' mail shows that the public is inclined to think the worst of politicians, no matter how clean their hands may be. His colleagues therefore are not likely to overflow with goodwill toward the Louisiana senator for volunteering some substance for that viewpoint.

THE WELL CHILD

Autistic Child Needs Love And Mental Stimulation

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There are some children who fail to show any capacity for love, fail to communicate with parents or other children, prefer to be alone and insist on certain rituals in their play, eating and preparing for bed.

These children—called autistic—often perform phenomenal feats of memory or mechanical skill despite their abnormality.

Because of their poor communication they are in danger of being considered feeble-minded, which they are not, and of being committed to an institution.

Often these children, who refuse to speak until they are 5 or 6 years old, show by their fine command of language that they have been learning all the time they were mute—learning the very things their parents thought they had failed to teach them.

The autistic child is deficient in emotional and social development. When no one has the time and patience (and it takes a lot of both) to work with them, they go through life with a severe handicap. Since they are not outgoing in even a small degree it is often hard for a parent to shower them with the love and mental stimulation they so sorely need. They love twirling or spinning toys and they appreciate soothing music but can't stand noise.

When loving attention is given they can gradually be brought out of their autism to some extent. In school, they should be placed in special groups of only two or three pupils and should be under the care of a teacher who understands their limitations and their needs.

Unfortunately, the cause of this disorder is not known. The outcome depends on the degree of autism, how early in life it is recognized and how it is treated. Ridicule and punishment for failure to talk will only increase the problem. Often the worst handicap for these children is the discouragement (not without foundation) of the parents.

Any mother who has, or thinks she may have, an autistic child should write to the National Institute of Mental Health, Bethesda, Md., or her state Department of Health for specific information on how best to help her child.

Q—The doctor says my child is autistic and has minimal brain damage. What is meant by minimal brain damage?

A—I assume that your doctor is trying to tell you that your child is not mentally retarded and that he subscribes to the idea that the cause of autism is a slight brain damage. This, although not proved, is a reasonable assumption.

BOAR IN A VILLAGE

PRAQUE (AP)—Czechoslovak Jurak Krivak died of wounds received when a wild boar attacked him in the center of a Slovak village recently, the news agency CTK reported. It added the boar was killed later when a tractor drove over it.

INDIAN SUICIDES DROWN

NEW DELHI (AP)—Drowning is the favorite form of suicide in India, according to a report by the Central Bureau of Investigation.

A survey by the agency of 29,724 suicides reported in 1964 showed that 8,843 persons died by jumping into wells, ponds or rivers, while 6,754 hanged themselves and 2,900 took poison. Other methods were not disclosed.

Coincidentally, a report released earlier by the same agency revealed that drownings also were responsible for the most accidental deaths in India in 1964.

The largest number of suicides—12,724—was reported in the 18-30 age group, followed by 10,900 cases above 30 and 6,100 below 18.

The analysis showed that no motive could be found for about half the suicides. However, 6,344 persons were reported to have committed suicide because of chronic diseases. Quarrels with parents caused 2,554 suicides.

THE HANDICAPPED won't be deterred from attending school at the University of Illinois for lack of accommodation in transportation facilities. Recognizing that many handicapped persons failed to attend school because they are confined to a wheel chair, university officials had ramps built and elevator systems provided, for easier access to campus facilities. Specially-equipped buses, such as the one at right, furnished transportation to the school that allowed the handicapped to dismount from the vehicle without help. A program to remove architectural barriers to the handicapped is being headed by the Easter Seal societies across the nation.
